Carrots
Source of beta carotene

Strawberries
Source of vitamin C, fiber and antioxidants

Apples
Source of vitamin A, C and fiber

Oranges
Source of vitamin A, B6, C, fiber, potassium, magnesium, folate and thiamin

Beets
Source of vitamin C, B and manganese

Blueberries
Source of vitamin C, B6, K, manganese, copper and fiber

Broccoli
Source of vitamin A, C and K as well as folate, manganese and fiber

Cherries
Source of vitamin A, C, B6, magnesium, potassium and fiber

Cranberries
Source of anitoxidants and vitamin C

Spinach
Source of vitamin A, B, C and K. Rich in iron, calcium, potassium and fiber.

Tomatoes
Rich in antioxidants. Source of vitamin B6, B3, A and fiber

Dried Kelp
Source of iodine, B vitamins, vitamins C, E and K and magnesium, sodium, zinc and other minerals

Salt
Required to maintain cellular environment

Coconut Oil
Source of medium chain fatty acids

Flaxseed
Source of Omega-3 and Omega-6, natural anitoxidants

Sweet Potato
Source of vitamin B6, vitamin C, manganese and fiber - low in fat

Chickpeas
Source of protein, potassium, magnesium, and folate, Vitamin A, Vitamins B and C and fiber

Turkey & Duck Liver
Source of protein, vitamin A, several B vitamins, iron, trace minerals

Turkey & Duck Meat
Source of protein containing the essential amino acids

Mixed Tocopherols
A natural preservative consisting of vitamin E

Packaging

Production