

HONEY
I'M HOME!

For every type of pup,
we have the PERFECT treat.

HEARTY HERDS. HEALTHY HIVES. HAPPY HOMES.
It all starts with ingredient sourcing.

Honey I'm Home was founded on the belief that strong and sweet could live together in the perfect dog treat. We set out on an adventure to source ingredients and develop practices that serve dogs, humans, communities, and even whole ecosystems, one delicious bite at a time.

BUFFALO: THE HEALTHIER CHOICE!

HIGH PROTEIN - LOW CALORIES - LOW FAT - LOW CHOLESTEROL - LOW SODIUM

Buffalo is Better.

There is a significant difference between buffalo and beef. While the vast majority of cows bred for beef are raised in large factory farm settings, our buffaloes roam free. Our herds live outside in their natural habitat, eat their natural diet and stay in better health.

No Hormones, Ever.

Not only are the buffaloes we use in our products not pumped with growth inhibitors, but they are also raised humanely in accordance with animal welfare standards around the globe.

100% Grass-Fed.

Our water buffalo are 100% grass-fed and are never “grain finished”. Grain-finishing negates all the positive effects of any grass-fed diet, so why do it? We are committed to respecting our herds with a natural grass diet and passing those health benefits on to your pup.

WHY DO WE SOURCE FROM INDIA?

This is a great question and on our quest to stay socially, ecologically and environmentally conscious we spent a lot of time researching the answer.

Unlike the American Bison there is an abundance of Water Buffalo throughout India. The Water Buffalo population is over 100 million, as opposed to the American Bison which are considered to be “ecologically extinct” and at one time were on the brink of extinction as whole. In fact, the Bison population got so low they started to cross-breed them with cattle, creating what is known today as “Beefalo”. Sourcing from India is not only sustainable, it also guarantees our products are made from 100% REAL buffalo.

Buffalo are not factory farmed in India, unlike beef in the U.S., instead our manufacturer purchases them from local, independent farmers creating a sustainable community support system.

It all starts with honestly good practices.

The farmers purchase the buffalo when they are calves, caring for them until they are sold. The health and welfare of the animal is extremely important to the farmers because they use their milk to feed their own families and selling them is how they maintain their livelihood.

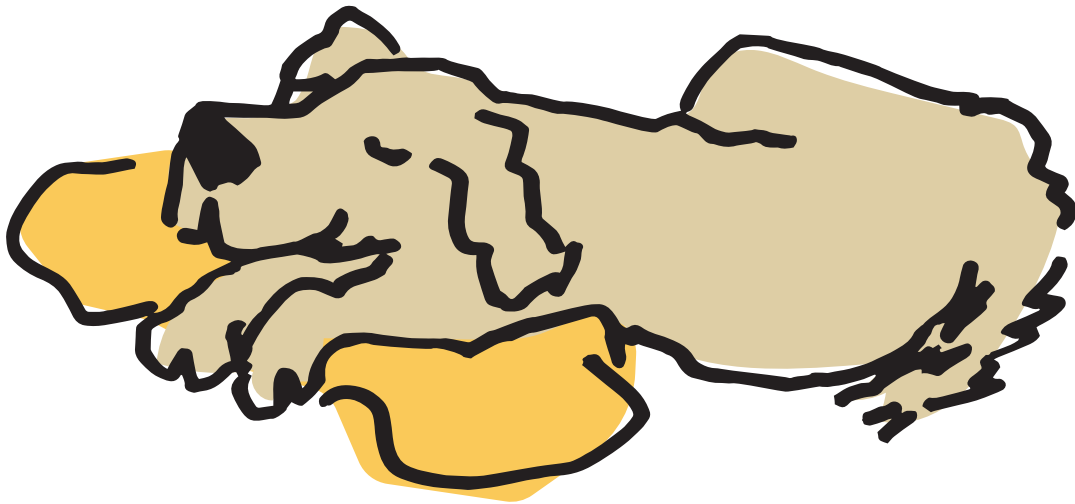

Since the primary use of buffalo meat and milk is for human consumption, Indian law has made it illegal to administer any antibiotics and use any form of hormones, most importantly growth hormones. Additionally, U.S. FDA regulations prohibit the use of hormones in buffalo, which is not the case with beef, adding yet another layer of health benefits.

India is recognized as having the most secure status for the deadly mad cow disease and is accredited by OIE and USDA as a negligible BSE risk country with no cases ever reported.

REST EASY, HONEY.

We've got treat time covered.
