CRAFT YOUR PERSONAL NARRATIVE

Going abroad is not only enriching, but it also shows that you're adaptable and can add a lot to your personal statement and story.

BUILD CULTURAL COMPETENCY

Cultural competency is one of the AAMC's core competencies. These outline the ideal traits of a medical school candidate, including resilience and adaptability, critical thinking, capacity for improvement, social skills, and others. Many of these can be practiced and strengthened abroad on an Atlantis program.
