

Red winemaking process

Technological choices respecting grapes

The work done in the vineyard must be respected from the first harvest day.

In the whole reception line of hand-picked or mechanically harvested grapes, it is important to preserve and to respect the grapes quality, to eliminate undesirable elements and to avoid releasing matters harmful to the quality of future wines.

All Delta range equipment is designed to respect the grape berry with a constant concern of guaranteed safety for the user, hygiene and simplified cleaning.

Reception line and grape sorting with destemmer Delta Oscillys

Reception line and grape sorting with destemmer Delta E2 and sorting table Delta Trio and air knife sorting table Delta Rflow

Reception line and grape sorting with destemmer Delta Oscillys and optical sorting table Delta Vistalys